

Water-Conserving Plants

Drought-tolerant and dry-tolerant plants

Note: Drought-tolerant plants are best located in full sun. Dry-tolerant plants are often adaptable to a wide range of conditions, including shade and moist sites.

Common Name	Drought- tolerant	Dry-tolerant
Trees
Amur chokecherry		■
Aspen (dry and moist)		■
Birch (drought and wet feet)	■
Lodgepole pine		■
Mountain ash		■
Schubert Chokecherry (dry)		■
White spruce		■
Shrubs
Alpine currant	■
Buckthorn	■
Caragana	■
Dwarf Flowering almond (dry)	■
False spirea		■
Flowering Almond	■
Gray dogwood (drought and wet feet)	■
Honeysuckle	■
Junipers	■
Lilac		■

Water-Conserving Plants - 2

Common Name	Drought- tolerant	Dry-tolerant
Shrubs (cont'd.)
Mugo pine
Ninebark
Purple leaf sand cherry
Russian olive
Saskatoon
Spirea
	Japanese
	Van Houte
	Bridalwreath
Sweet mockorange
Perennials
Artemesias (silvermound)
Asters
Black-eyed Susan
Columbine
Coreopsis
Delphinium
Iris
Lavender
Perennial flax
Pruple coneflower
Sages
Sweet William
Yarrow

Water-Conserving Plants - 3

Common Name	Drought- tolerant	Dry-tolerant
Annuals
Cosmos
Marigole
Pansies
Phlox
Portaluca
Rose campion
Statice
Zinnias		